

The Diabetic Foot Journal

Vol 25 No 3 2022

The journal for healthcare professionals with an interest in the care of the diabetic foot

Tissue viability specialist nurses and diabetic specialist podiatrists in the acute setting: should collaborative working be encouraged?

AJ Bishop and SA Buckley demonstrate how multidisciplinary working can reduce duplication of work rather than increase it, and ultimately improve the patient experience. Page 12

IN THIS ISSUE

Maceration

Alexandra Freitas explains why periwound maceration is an obvious contender for inclusion as a risk factor in diabetes wound care. Page 34

CPD: COVID-19

Aileen Gibb presents study findings to identify if patients could use a self-assessment questionnaire and sensation test in a post-COVID world. Page 42

WEBSITE

Journal content online at:
www.diabetesonthenet.com

Part of: Diabetes
ONTHENET.com